2020 Ballot: Voters to Decide Sales Tax, Citizen Initiative Process, Term Limit Amendments

It's official: Arkansas' 2019 legislative session is over. Legislators held their formal closing Wednesday ending the session.

As part of the session, legislators referred three constitutional amendments to voters on the 2020 ballot.

Issue numbers haven't been assigned yet to the three measures, so we'll refer to them in order of the date legislators referred them. We will publish our neutral voter guide on these proposed amendments along with any that come from the citizen-initiated process closer to Election Day 2020.

Continuing Sales Tax for Road Construction

HJR1018: An Amendment to the Arkansas Constitution Continuing a One-Half Percent \(0.5%\) Sales and Use Tax for State Highways and Bridges; County Roads, Bridges and Other Surface Transportation; and City Streets, Bridges, and Other Surface Transportation After the Retirement of the Bonds Authorized in Arkansas Constitution, Amendment 91.

Lead Sponsor: Rep. Jeff Wardlaw

Vote: The Senate approved referring HJR1018 to the ballot by a vote of 25 yeas to 7 nays. The House approved referring the constitutional amendment by a vote of 67 yeas to 30 nays.

The proposed amendment would continue an existing one-half percent sales tax for roads. The Department of Finance and Administration prepared a Legislative Impact Statement on the proposal and its fiscal impacts.

Historical context: Voters in 2012 passed a half-cent sales tax for road construction in the state, for highways and local roads. Read our 2012 fact sheet on the proposal, which the legislature placed on the ballot. Voters approved the measure, creating Amendment 91.

Changing Legislative Term Limits

SJR15: A Constitutional Amendment to Amend the Term Limits Applicable to Members of the General Assembly, to be Known as the "Arkansas Term Limits Amendment"

Lead Sponsor: Sen. Alan Clark

Vote: The Senate approved referring SJR15 to the ballot by a vote of 26 yeas to 5 nays. The House approved referring the constitutional amendment by a vote of 51 yeas to 26 nays.

The proposed amendment would lower the number of years state legislators could serve in office. There was no Legislative Impact Statement issued for this proposal.

Historical context: Voters in 2014 approved a constitutional amendment involving ethics laws for state legislators. The amendment also contained a provision extending existing term limits to 16 years in either the House or the Senate. Arkansans have voted on the issue of legislative term limits three times in the past 30 years. For more information about those historical votes, read our 2018 fact sheet on Issue 3

(which was struck from the ballot before Election Day).

Changing the Citizen-Initiated and Legislative Ballot Issue Process

HJR1008: A Constitutional Amendment To Amend The Process For The Submission, Challenge, And Approval Of Proposed Initiated Acts, Constitutional Amendments, And Referenda

Lead Sponsor: Rep. DeAnn Vaught

Vote: The Senate approved referring HJR1008 to the ballot by a vote of 25 yeas to 10 nays. The House approved referring the constitutional amendment by a vote of 68 yeas to 20 nays.

The proposed amendment would increase the number of counties in which canvassers would have to collect voter signatures from to put a citizen initiative on the ballot, eliminate the ability for ballot issue groups to collect more signatures to replace invalid ones, require court challenges to be filed by a certain date ahead of the election, and increase the number of legislative votes needed for the General Assembly to refer proposed amendments to voters.

Historical context: Arkansas is one of 18 states where the state constitution allows citizens to refer their own constitutional amendments to voters on the general election ballot. For constitutional amendments, ballot issue groups have to gather signatures from voters equaling 10 percent of the number of people who voted for governor in the last election. For state laws, they have to collect signatures equaling 8 percent of the people who voted for governor.

Supporters typically collect more than 90,000 signatures since many are invalidated due to collection errors or people not being registered to vote. Arkansas voters last approved changes to the petition signature process in 2014. For more information about that process, read our 2014 fact sheet.

Citizen-Initiated Ballot Proposals

Looking Forward

Potential Ballot Issues from the Public

Submitted to the Secretary of State

Act 376 of 2019 requires ballot issue groups to submit a copy of their ballot title with the Arkansas Secretary of State before collecting signatures. As of April 24, only one group has submitted a proposal to the Secretary of State.

March 14, 2019 - Arkansas Term Limits Amendment - A proposal to lower the number of years state legislators can serve in office was submitted by a group known as Arkansas Term Limits BQC.

Approved by the Attorney General

Before the passage of Act 376, the Arkansas Attorney General was required to certify ballot titles before groups could collect signatures. The Attorney General had certified the ballot title of one proposed amendment for the 2020 election before the new law was introduced and took effect. It's not known how Act 376 affects that certification.

Oct. 26, 2018 - An Amendment to Establish the Arkansas Citizens' Redistricting Commission - A proposal seeking to change how Arkansas' congressional and state legislative districts are established was approved with a cautionary note that the proposal's subject matter was complex and far reaching, according to Opinion No. 2018-135. This complexity could lead to a ballot title challenge, the opinion stated. David Couch of Little Rock submitted the measure.
