RETHINK YOUR DRINK

Carbonated, sugar-sweetened soft drinks are the single biggest source of calories in the American diet. And non-carbonated, sugar-sweetened drinks (fruit drinks, ades, ice teas) add even more calories.

Have you found your new favorite drink to be decadent and sweet? Prepare to gain weight unless you're cutting food calories to make up for the extra calories your new indulgence is adding to your daily diet.

We all know that eating and drinking too many calories can equal weight gain. But did you know just 100 extra calories a day can add up to a 10-pound weight gain in one year? This can happen when someone increases their drink calories without decreasing their food calories.

DID YOU KNOW?

There are over 50 different names used for added sugar on food labels? Visit: bit.ly/ArFoodsRethinkYourDrink to find them all.

MAKE THE SWEET DRINK SWITCH

What you drink makes a difference! Here are 5 ways to make better drink choices:

1. Make water the easy choice.
Carry a bottle of water with you every day and serve water with meals.
2. Make water more exciting by adding slices of lemon or lime.
3. Choose water, diet, or low calorie drinks instead of sugar sweetened drinks.
4. When you do have a sugary drink, order a small size.
5. Try getting your calories in the form of food instead of sugar sweetened beverages.
