

Managing Money & Love

Issue 9: Insurance

What would you do if you or your spouse became sick or injured on the job? How would you replace your property if it were damaged or stolen? How would you take care of your family financially if one spouse died? Most individuals obtain insurance to protect themselves, their family and the things of value they own.

Insurance is a contract with an insurance company that promises to pay for certain financial losses you suffer if you pay a premium.

Test your knowledge of insurance terms. Match the following words with their definitions.

beneficiary	face value	lapse
deductible	premium	cash value
grace period	perils	insured

- _____ the person whose life is covered by the insurance.
- _____ the amount paid for the insurance.
- _____ the person who receives payment when insured dies.
- _____ the amount of money to be paid when the insured dies.
- _____ dangers your property may be protected against.
- _____ the amount of time to pay your insurance if you are late with a payment.
- _____ the amount the insured must pay before the insurance company will pay.
- _____ the expiration of an insurance policy.

Remember, not having the right insurance at the right time is “risky business.”

1. insured	2. premium	3. beneficiary	4. face value	5. perils	6. grace period	7. deductible	8. lapse
Answers

DIVISION OF AGRICULTURE RESEARCH & EXTENSION

University of Arkansas System

University of Arkansas,
United States Department of Agriculture,
and County Governments Cooperating

These are the five main types (categories) of insurance:

1. automobile
2. property
3. life
4. health
5. liability

Premium

The amount you pay over a period of time for the cost of insurance coverage is called a premium.

Deductible

Most insurance policies, except life insurance, generally include a deductible amount. The deductible is how much you must pay before the insurance company begins to pay for the loss.

It makes sense to choose a deductible that is large enough to reduce premiums but small enough to prevent financial hardship when a loss occurs.

Talk with your insurance agent about how much insurance you need!

Types of Insurance

Automobile Insurance

Most states require all car owners to have automobile insurance. Auto insurance includes different coverage for different losses. These are losses that may occur in the operation of a car. The main coverages are liability (bodily injury and property damage), medical payments, collision, comprehensive and uninsured motorist.

Automobile insurance rates are based on driving records of drivers with similar characteristics. When insurance companies determine rates, they consider age, sex, marital status, cost of repairs, type of car, use of car and location.

Property Insurance

Protecting your property is an important part of risk management. Real property includes things such as your house and other structures within 100 feet of your house (e.g., fences, tool sheds). Personal property includes things such as furniture, clothing and appliances.

You protect your real and personal property with homeowners or renters insurance. There are three types of policies:

basic form

broad form

comprehensive form

The type of policy you have determines which perils you will be protected against and the dollar amount of that protection. Perils are the dangers your property may be protected against in your homeowner's policy. Examples are fire, lightning, windstorm, hail, explosion, riots or civil commotion, damage by aircraft, damage by vehicles (not your own), damage from smoke, vandalism, malicious mischief, theft, window breakage, falling objects, weight of ice, snow, sleet, collapse of part or all of building, damage from steam heating or water heating appliances, leakage or overflow of water or steam, freezing of plumbing, heating and air conditioning systems, home appliances and short-circuit damage to electrical appliances. Talk with your insurance agent about how much coverage you need.

A basic policy usually protects you against personal liability and property that is destroyed.

A broad policy covers everything the basic policy does plus seven other perils.

A comprehensive policy protects you against the perils covered in the broad policy plus all perils not specifically excluded.

Renters insurance is similar to homeowners insurance, but it covers personal property (furniture, clothing, appliances you own) when you rent an apartment or a house. The landlord's insurance coverage does not reimburse renters for loss of their personal property.

Some policies may not cover the total value of all your personal possessions. Limits are often placed on cash, jewelry, electronic equipment, china and silver, furs and guns. Ask your insurance agent about a "floater" policy to provide additional coverage.

Life Insurance

There are several main types of life insurance choices. One is term insurance. Term insurance does not have a cash value or investment component and is written for a certain period of time, usually five or ten years. Other main types are whole life, universal, variable and variable/universal. These all have an investment component.

The primary reason for buying life insurance for yourself is to protect others. Life insurance provides a way to protect families and others from losses associated with death. A life insurance policy specifies an amount of money to be paid to beneficiaries when the insured dies.

Health Insurance

There are two primary types of health insurance: medical and disability.

Medical

Many individuals have all or part of their medical insurance provided by their employer. However, some people need to seek out their own group or individual medical insurance. These individuals may be self-employed, for instance.

Basic medical insurance takes care of the initial hospital surgery and supply costs. It usually covers from the first dollar of expense incurred. But there are limits on how much the policy will pay. And there are limits on how long it will pay.

There are also restrictions on coverage. An example is a pre-existing condition, such as diabetes or cancer. Often these illnesses are not covered. They may be covered only after a specified period of time if there is no recurrence of the disease.

A major difference among the various medical insurance policies is how much they pay per day for a hospital room.

You were most likely covered by your parents' medical insurance until you were married. Now you need to get your own coverage. This is a very important employee benefit to look for when you are considering different job opportunities.

Disability

One of your greatest assets is your earning power. It is important to protect your earning power and income. You do this with disability income insurance. Disability income insurance pays an income to you if you cannot work because of an injury or illness. The amount of coverage usually is limited to one-half to two-thirds of your gross income. This limited amount of coverage is designed to encourage you to return to work as soon as possible. It is designed to discourage you from staying out of the work force and living on disability income payments.

Liability Insurance

Liability insurance protects you from personal and financial loss that may result from lawsuits against you. Liability implies that you have a legal responsibility to someone and must pay for personal injury or property damage caused by neglect on your part.

Let's say in a court action you are found to be negligent. You have liability insurance. The insurance company will pay a settlement amount as specified in the insurance contract.

Credit Life Insurance

This type of insurance pays the unpaid balance of a loan in the event of a borrower's death. Rates for this type of insurance are high, and most financial experts feel it is unnecessary if the borrower has adequate life insurance coverage.

Tips on How to Save Money on Insurance

	Auto	Health	Life	Home or Renters	Disability
Shop at least three places; compare rates and policies; ask about discounts and special rates.
Read sources of information such as Consumer Reports .
Purchase more than one type of insurance from the same company; insure all cars with the same company.
Don't smoke; take care of your health.
Select a higher deductible.
Carefully consider before adding riders or floaters.
Maintain a good driving record.
Discount allowed for smoke detectors and burglar alarms.
Periodically review policies and coverage.

Helpful Numbers and Addresses

National Insurance Information Institute
110 William Street
New York, New York 10038
<http://www.iii.org/nich.btm>

A resource for consumers with automobile, homeowners, life and health insurance questions. The helpline is open Monday thru Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

National Association of Insurance Commissioners
120 West 12th Street, Suite 1100
Kansas City, MO 64105
<http://www.naic.org>

Provides single copies of free shopper's guides on various types of insurance policies, such as health, cancer, auto and long-term care.

A.M. Best
www.ambest.com

Provides insurance company ratings online. Must register first; however, registration is free.

Arkansas Insurance Department
1200 West Third Street
Little Rock, AR 72201
1-800-282-9134
<http://insurance.arkansas.gov>

Provides consumer protection against insurance companies and educational information upon request.

in the next issue: Investing

Adapted from Marriage and Money by Joy Buffalo, Pulaski County family and consumer sciences agent with the University of Arkansas Division of Agriculture, Cooperative Extension Service; Healthy, Wealthy and Wise by Joy Buffalo and Dr. Bobbie Shaffett, family resource management specialist with Mississippi State University Extension Service.

Managing Money & Love newsletters are authored by LAURA CONNERLY, assistant professor, and DR. JAMES MARSHALL, associate professor - family life specialist, University of Arkansas Division of Agriculture, Cooperative Extension Service.

Pursuant to 7 CFR § 15.3, the University of Arkansas System Division of Agriculture offers all its Extension and Research programs and services (including employment) without regard to race, color, sex, national origin, religion, age, disability, marital or veteran status, genetic information, sexual preference, pregnancy or any other legally protected status, and is an equal opportunity institution.